INTRODUCTION

The Bureau of the Budget (now the Office of Management and Budget) long performed a critical function as a clearinghouse through which legislation passed en route from Congress to the president, and through which legislative proposals proceeded from the agencies of the executive branch to Congress. The Bureau's recommendations encompassed considerably more than attaching price tags to legislative packages and allocating funds to competing executive departments, although its fiscal analyses undeniably decided the fate of countless bills and proposals throughout its existence. In its advisory capacity the Bureau assisted the president both in arriving at final positions on measures pending in Congress and in taking final action on enacted bills. Furthermore, the Bureau helped to ensure that the views of all executive departments potentially affected by a legislative action would be factored into the lawmaking process. Just as importantly, this powerful office did much to coordinate the dissemination of an administration's overall policies and its positions on specific pieces of legislation—a function intended to inform Congress and to guide government agencies in the development of their own budgetary and legislative proposals.

This collection contains documents from the Bureau of the Budget files that were submitted in support of, or in opposition to, the public laws enacted by the 87th and 88th Congresses and signed by President Kennedy.

Apart from the intrinsic interest and importance of this and other legislation passed during the term of JFK, the documents of Bureau of the Budget Bill Reports give researchers an inside view of the pragmatic realities of the federal government's modus operandi. In particular, this collection will enable historians and political scientists to explore in close detail the relations between Congress and the Kennedy administration, as well as the dynamics of the executive branch under John F. Kennedy.
SCOPE AND CONTENT NOTE

At the direction of the President, the Bureau of the Budget performed various legislative coordination and clearance functions. It assisted the President in developing his position on various legislative bills, making known his administration's position on these bills, and providing guidance and information to executive agencies and departments and to Congress. These functions ensured the appropriate consideration of the views of all affected agencies and provided assistance to the President with respect to his action on legislative proposals and enrolled bills.

This micropublication consists primarily of the "Memoranda For The President" regarding an enrolled bill. These memoranda were submitted by the assistant director for legislative reference in the Bureau of the Budget. These memoranda consisted of short statements including the last date of action on, agency recommendations for, and summarized discussion of the enrolled bill. Supplementing these memoranda are portions of the enrolled bill's legislative history. These portions include the draft bill with supporting documents, which an agency (or agencies) presented to Congress, or any type of legislative proposal that an agency proposed to transmit to the Congress; various types of reports regarding official views on pending bills or resolutions prepared by an agency for the transmittal to congressional members and committees; agency testimony before affected congressional committees; and "agency views letters." These letters contain an analysis of the features of the proposed (or enrolled) bill, comparison of the bill with administration proposals and policies, comments and criticisms, an analysis of benefits of the bill, and comparisons of the proposed bill with current laws. The "agency views letters" provided invaluable assistance to the President in regard to his decision to veto or approve an enrolled bill. In addition, this micropublication includes congressional committee and conference prints, official printings of the enrolled bill, press releases, and presidential statements.
SOURCE NOTE

The material utilized in UPA's micropublication, Bureau of the Budget Bill Reports is from the Bureau of the Budget Bill Reports of the John F. Kennedy Presidential Papers. This material is located at the John F. Kennedy Presidential Library in Boston, Massachusetts.

EDITORIAL NOTE

UPA's Bureau of the Budget Bill Reports consists of correspondence and memoranda from the Assistant Director of the Bureau of the Budget for Legislative Reference, recommendations and correspondence from executive office and agency heads to the Bureau of the Budget and the president, congressional committee reports and versions of bills, press releases, and the final acts. UPA has included in its micropublication those materials that refer to the public laws passed by the 87th and 88th Congresses, between March 1, 1961, and November 20, 1963. The folders in this collection are arranged chronologically. The documents in the folders are generally in chronological order. The Private Laws, generally constituent requests for assistance or claims, have not been included in this microform publication due to their personal nature. Bills that were vetoed by the president have also not been included in this micropublication.
